Bleeding Heart (A Timeless Fable About Living Life With Passion) Xavier Saer

Bleeding Heart is a timeless fable about living life with passion. It will bring joy to your soul as you turn the pages ever faster.

In a grey, permanently overcast city in South America, a child is born with a gap in his chest; a heart that is open to the world. To most, it appears to be a weakness. It is in fact a gift.

Sole heir to a wealthy sugar plantation, his totalitarian father tries to force him to follow the family tradition of administering their slave-run empire. Paco refuses, opting to follow his dream of singing. Driven from his home by his father's ultimatum, Paco is lured into a world of political deception where his musical abilities land him on the wrong side of the law... and deeply in love. Having to run for his life and freedom. Escaping to the Andes, fate leads him to a mystical Inca shaman, who teaches him how to follow his heart and his inner voice.

He is confronted with the decision; to have a heart that bleeds forever, or choose the path where there's no more bleeding - even if it means death.

He discovers that nothing is impossible, and that living with an open heart is not weakness, but a gift to the world.

Xavier the songwriter has become a story teller, but his words are not just words, they are lyrics that drip strength and passion.

This novel deserves more than 5 stars...

It turned out to be one of those books I couldn't put down for long, that I just had to keep reading til the end. I felt as if I was right there following along as if I was filming every take of this story. I felt every emotion that this story had in it, tears, laughter, love and even anger.

I found Alejandra, mother of Paco, to be the loving, nurturing and the supportive one of Paco's love of music and his dream to be a singer.

Samuel, father of Paco, to be the strict, sometimes abusive and very stubborn one, who wanted Paco to take over the families Hacienda Alegría Sugar Plantation, and forget about his dream of music and being a singer. This had me so mad I wanted to jump in the pages and give Samuel a piece of my mind or two!

And there is Paco, who I fell in love with from the beginning, this beautiful soul, who was born with a whole in his heart, a heart that is open to the world, and born with a gift, and a wonderful gift he does have.

Finally, Shaman, who teaches Paco how to follow his heart, his inner voice and live a life of passion.

So in the end of this magnificently written novel, by Xavier Saer, I was left with this: Can one only Dream with an open heart?, can one only Love with an open heart?, and can one with an open heart like his...Change the world?

You Bet!! We all can, we just have to believe and never give up on our Passion.

This is a must read, it's life changing, trust me! ♥

Xavier Saer the songwriter has become a story teller and he has done so with an outstanding literary achievement. In Bleeding Heart, Xavier Saer's words are not just words that exist in state on the page, they are exquisite lyrics of a literary kind, imbued with strength, romance, tension and passion.

Bleeding Heart is not a story that has been merely written. It has been lovingly handcrafted, sculpted from the collected experiences Saer has brought with him on his life's journey and it has been done so with a care and devotion that I have not witnessed from an author in a long time.

Saer brings to this story, his considerable talent as a song writer and lyricist crafting his tome in such a way that the entire book, arguably, becomes a song in and of itself. His words are poetic, picturesque, dramatic and inspirational.

Saer has an astute sense of romance and emotion - both in imbuing his characters with it as well as eliciting an emotional response from us, his readers. We feel for his characters, not the least of which, the unassuming hero in Paco who is rendered so vividly the we live through his experience.

I've said before that I am drawn to writers who are able to write visually, allowing us to unlock the story-scape in our imagination. Here, Xavier Saer is no exception, presenting an accessible visual palette to his story that draws very much upon his Peruvian homeland, the beauty and the terror of its cities, the Andes Mountains and the contrasting people he populates his story with.

Bleeding Heart represents a high water mark in the inspirational fiction genre. Fans of Bryce Courtney's The Power Of One will find textural parallels with Bleeding Heart but Xavier Saer's work stands as a highly original piece that delivers on its own terms.

Bleeding Heart is, hands down, an supremely important work that will enchant you.

Xavier Saer, is such a great Author of such a great book, his story and writing is phenomenal! "Bleeding Heart" is filled with such emotions, feelings, desires and a hearts passion, that you'll find yourself relating to all the characters in this amazing story, as I did especially with Paco; and it will change you're life as it did mine.

I highly recommend "Bleeding Heart", so you too can choose to have a Heart that bleeds no more and a path to "Living Life With Passion", and know that "Nothing is impossible".
