The Alpine Legacy Mary Daheim
KILL THE COMPETITION

Emma Lord, editor and publisher of The Alpine Advocate, has never faced such cruel competition--especially not the fierce personal attacks mounted by Alpine's radical new publication, Crystal Clear. So when Crystal Bird, the editor, commits suicide, Emma sheds no tears. But Sheriff Milo Dodge determines that Crystal was murdered, and the little town is out for blood--namely, Emma's. Pursued by hate mail and flying bricks, Emma vows to draw some blood herself--from the enemy who set her up to take the fall. . . .

Cheryl says

Did Ballantine Books lose all their editors and proofreaders? I don't know if the print version had as many errors as the digital version, but WOW. If they do still have editors and proofreaders, they shouldn't be working in the industry anymore. Aside from that, the story line was okay.

Ailisa Evans says

So far, this book has got to be my favorite book of the series. Emma gets some nasty news competition in Alpine. When the competition is found dead in her own home and Emma is the one of the last people to see this person alive, she becomes the number one suspect. People are quick to turn on Emma when she's a murder suspect, and she has to figure out who really are her true friends. This book is filled with suspense, drama, love, relationships, and Tom Cavanaugh!

I am reading this series primarily to "keep up with the characters." I get this way about some series.

A-bookworm says*I like this series.

It's not great literature, or the best mysteries, but the main characters and their lives are enjoyable. In a mystery series like this you know it will get solved, this was the first one that I guessed correctly from early on BTW, so it's really about the people whose lives slowly progress through these "cozy" mysteries. Are they great, no, but they are fun.
