Hands Off!, Volume 3 Kasane Katsumoto

When student-teacher Udou-sensei shows up at the head of the class, he turns the boys' lives upside-down! As if Tatsuki weren't being put through the ringer enough, Yuuto and Kotarou meet Karen, a beautiful but nosy photographer that ends up pulling the boys into her dangerous world. When Tatsuki's powers begin to act strangely, he suddenly realizes that controlling them is as difficult as ever. But despite the stress, could that be a bit of ice slowly melting from his cold heart?

orannia says

Three and a half stars. I really enjoyed this volume. Lots of interesting character development, and I'm crossing my fingers a certain secondary character makes a re-appearance in the later volumes.

Kelly Danahy says

I understand the development of the plot and all but I hope it goes back to being light-hearted and funny soon.

Hikaoru says

So many people with different powers. Kinda like wizards living among muggles.

Kati says

The boys' lives are disrupted by the arrival of Udou, another young man with special abilities. A mysterious girl photographer catches them all in action and starts following them. And Tatsuki's powers spin even more out of control.

Leila Anani says

A mysterious allumni comes to the school as a substitute teacher and manages to take away Tatsuki's powers - which is of course what he's always wanted. Then Kotaro gets kidnapped by a rival basketball team and powerless Tatsuki can't find him. Ooooh the plot thickens. Just who was the mysterious guy with the gold aura? And what is the real relationship between our ESPer's powers? What is so special about Kotaro? - we haven't actually see him do anything other than act as a focus for the other two. There's lots of moody Tastsuki too, nice!
