Love love love this one.

I wasn't expecting a great deal from this, maybe a few ideas I could steal that would involve advanced meal prep and pop it in the oven simplicity; to be clear, the book is not about meal prep, but as everything is designed to cook in an 8x8 dish, it seemed logical...

I've made several of the recipes, and my family loved them all. Many of these could easily be prepped the day ahead, or morning of. Several of them would also do well to prep and freeze.

So far I've had and loved: brined, breaded, baked chicken; Boursin baked mashed potatoes; Italian herb baked meatballs; salami and fresh mozzarella stuffed chicken breasts; and turkey stuffed zucchini boats. Later this week I'll try the rosemary roasted game hen and grapes.

Excellent cookbook. The recipes are not difficult and made with everyday ingredients. The author reviews glass, ceramic, and metal dishes and pans so you can choose the right one for your recipe. This cookbook, paired with a 8x8 pan, would make an outstanding gift.

Good recipes, was looking for more meal ideas than desserts but portions were perfect!
