This was a fun anthology. It had a nice mix of stories from books I have read and new stories that I can't wait to learn more about.

Samhain goddess by Skye MacKinnon was a story set in the wynter princess series. I loved this series so I was happy to get more wyn and her guardians. It's wyn's first official event as queen but she doesn't have much time to be nervous about it because there are ghosts. The story was short but gave me everything I could want and made me desperate for more. I really hope that this isn't the end of wyn's journey.

Hunters moon by Elle cross is a spin off of two of her series with Corbin as the main character. It was nice getting to know more about her and learnign a big secret about her past with vesper. I liked that it had so much mystery and information but never felt rushed. I loved the bits from the brightling series. I am looking forward to more from corbin's pov.

Four lilac spells by bea Paige takes place during fern's flight and tells the story of what happened between lissa and Nostra. Their story has been told through out the sisters of hex series but now we finally get to see it though Lissa's eyes. They are soulmates and are trying so hard to save the other that they are willing to sacrifice themselves. This story clears up some questions about how Nostra ends up the way he did in the book but still leaves some unanswered. This was a great little addition to one of my favorite series.

Halloween done the Reverse Harem way; scary, funny, and so, so sexy! This Anthology contains 16 stories by some of the best RH writers on the market. It's full of characters you definitely want to investigate in the dark and absolutely wouldn't say no to biting you. Time to go trick or treating with angels, demons, witches, werewolves, elves, vampires, and maybe even a unicorn! Stories by C.R. Jane, Yumoyori Wilson, K.T. Strange, Harper Wylde, Mila Young, Mary Martel, Joely Sue Burkhart, Skye Mackinnon, Elle Cross,

Montana Ash, C. Strange, K.B. Everly, Stacy Jones, Beth Hendrix, Bea Paige, May Dawson, and T.J. Spade. I will be reviewing this story by story, so please be patient. I will get to them all, promise!

Frightful Beginnings by C.R Jane, 5-star rating.

Eva has never had a Halloween. The only time she tried to celebrate like the other children it didn't turn out well. This year will be different. Lexi and her men, Beckham, Mason, and Damon plan to make it her new favorite holiday. A movie premiere, the after-party, and a haunted house surrounded by three gorgeous, adoring men and a bestie should do the trick.

Without a doubt the sexiest Halloween imaginable even with Eric's stalking. Bet he wishes he stayed home by the end (or maybe not). I love Eva and love that she gets spoiled by her loves and Lexi after everything she's been through. The pampering, dancing, the singing, and the kissing. Swoon-worthy. And Lexy at the premiere and club was hysterical. She's a great addition to the group. This is the perfect treat for everyone who loves this series.

Celestia's Trick or Treat Mayhem by Yumoyori Wilson, 5-star rating.

DOO DOO DOO. It's a night for tricks and plenty of treats as Celestia and her men enjoy themselves at Aslan's Halloween Festival. When they go into the dark forest they become part of a game of five trials where only the fulfillment of their pleasurable desires can set them free.

This is a lighthearted holiday romp full of silly and sexy times. It leaves you wanting a set of twins (or two sets) of your own!

Hyde With Me by K.B. Everly and Stacy Jones, 5-star rating.

Jaquelyn (Lyn) Hyde, chemical pathologist student has already lost one mother. She can't lose the second one. So she is determined to do anything to find a cure for the disease slowly killing her aunt. When she is convinced she's found the correct formula, she uses the only test subject available to her, herself. Jacky is created. More interested in fighting and two blue-eyed twins, Jacky has no time for dull little Lyn's life, her classes or her sweet Southern crush. Somehow these two are going to have to learn about the other and learn to share!

I am a huge fan of KB Everly. Her writing is original, sometimes dark, always sexy, and always entertaining. For this story, she is paired with Stacy Jones, another fresh voice. This twist on Jekyll and Hyde is a prequel providing the backstory on what is sure to a most unusual and captivating RH. Brilliant start!

Four Lilac Spells by Bea Paige, 4-star rating.

This Sisters of Hex series novella is set during a period of time in Fern's Flight. You really need to have read Lissa has loved Nostra for what seems forever. He feels the same but in frustrating Nostra fashion, he refuses to Entwine with her for her safety. Even though without his magic, he is dying and this is his best chance. So Lissa is trying to save him, his way with her magic and specially crafted spells.

This is an intense read covering a few vital hours in Lissa and Nostra's relationship. It highlights Lissa's strength, her love for Nostra, and her willingness to do whatever it takes to save him. Nostra is well-meaning but frustrating and foolish. He's the one who originally declared that the Sisters would beat the evil Queen because they had the one thing she could never have, love. Now he's refusing love and hurting himself and Lissa. In the end, however, he's no match for Lissa and her power. She will keep him alive; he's too important to the war and to her. Reading this also clears up the mystery of Lissa's state of undress during the battle!

1. Frightful Nights: C.R. Jane:

Fun Halloween novella. I love Eva and her men! I loved reading about them having some fun. That epilogue was epic too. I can't wait to read more about Eva and her guys!

2. Trick or Treat Mayhem: Yumoyori Wilson:

This hilarious and steamy, oh so steamy novella features Celestia and her men and the shenanigans of Halloween night. You get some glimpses of Arielle and her guys in all their glory also. Oh I call dibs on Orion and Odion, I licked them they are mine LOL! Fantastic novella from Yumo and Arielle's costume is awesome hahahaha!

3. Embers of Samhain: C.J. Strange:

Great sneak peek into a prequel for Blaze of Chaos. Blaze of Chaos is on my TBR list, but I will now be moving it up the list to read sooner. I can't wait to read more about Penelope and her team.

4. Hyde with Me: Stacy Jones & K.B. Everly:

Spectacular short story take on Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde or should I say Dr. Jekyll and Ms. Hyde. I can't wait to read more of this story. Its a great start to what I'm sure is going to be a fabulous book.

5. Losing Alyana: Beth Hendrix:

I really need to read Hoodwinked, with that being said. This is a great story and you don't have to read the other book in the series to understand this one which I think is fabulous. Entertaining Halloween story to say the least.

6. Samhain Goddess: Skye MacKinnon:

I have moved so many books up my TBR list because of all the amazing Halloween anthologies. I can't wait to read the Daughter of Winter series. This sin-off is great! Fantastic detail in this short story about Wyn and her guardians and Samhain. Cute ghost story, oh and steamy too!

7. Date with a Werewolf: K.T. Strange:

I'm going to start with I love Dracy and the guys of Phoenixcry, now with that being said....I love this story (Eli is definitely my favorite, well him and Cash). I thoroughly enjoyed this date with Eli and Darcy, it was sweet in the beginning and then steamy then sweet at the end. So good!!

8. The Hunter's Moon: Elle Cross:

Great spin-off novella! But you don't have to read Grit to thoroughly enjoy Corbin's Halloween story! Maybe we will get to see more of Corbin's story at a later date. She has intrigued me since reading Grit and Grit 2!

9. Tricked: Mila Young:

Awesome start to the Elves and the Shoemaker fairytale. You don't hear or read this particular fairytale very often, let alone a retelling of it. The start of the retelling with an RH flair even better. I can't wait to read more about Rain and her elves.

10. Soul Echo: Harper Wylde:

Oh wow! The first 5 chapters in this book are phenomenal! I absolutely can not wait to read the whole book in February! Felicity or Liss and other sups being hunted, just wow awesome story so far, can't wait to read more.

11. Four Lilac Spells: Bea Paige:

It was an amazing learning more about Nostra and Lissa. Especially after reading Fern's Flight. I really liked reading what happened between other characters other then the daughters of the clans. I would love to read more of their story, like when they first met or their story throughout all the Daughters of Hex series.

Fantastic edition to this anthology!

12. Strange Angels: May Dawson:

I love Ellis and her guys and it was awesome to read more about them. Great, steamy Halloween adventure! I absolutely love the Lilith and her Harem series, its on my reread list along with some of the other authors throughout this anthology!

13. Forbidden Hex: T.J. Spade & Montana Ash:

Fantastic novella and you don't need to read Forbidden Hybrid to understand it. Although now I really want to find time to read it! Fun, steamy, well written collaboration of 2 fabulous authors!

14. Conjured Shadows: Joely Sue Burkhart:

Spectacular wizard, demon short story and as always the lovely RH twist. This story would be even better if it was ( hopefully this happens later) extended or even made into a series. That would be frickin fantastic!

I absolutely love this anthology. It has all of my favorite authors, with fun, sexy, steamy new novellas all in one place. Bloody fantastic and amazingly written group of books!

Jennifer Mullin says

Spoiler free, as always. So, I read this anthology through my Kindle Unlimited subscription. I was excited - I love a few of the authors involved, and was looking forward to reading new ones. It wasn't until I actually started reading, though, that I realized that the majority of these stories aren't exactly "stand alone" stories - they all take place in universes that are part of larger book series' by each authors. Which is great in the case of Yumoyori Wilson and Elle Cross, the two authors in this anthology whose book series' I've read. However, in the case of the rest, it was a bit...Disconcerting. To suddenly be thrown into a story where not only did I not know the characters or the backstory, but had no idea of the context of certain things. It made it harder for me to stay interested in some of the other stories.

As for those two - Celestia's Halloween by Yumoyori Wilson was fabulously dirty. Completely out of context of the books, of course, other than including the characters, really, but a delightfully spooky and sexy read! I enjoyed it immensely as the short interlude it was obviously meant as!

And Elle Cross' brief interlude into The Hunter's Moon was an AWESOME look at Corbin Troy, and I adored it! Not so much sexy time, but I loved the action, the sarcasm, and the hilarity involved, and the obvious Halloween tones.

The other stories were good, but due to the fact that I haven't read their main series, and thus knew absolutely nothing about them, I'm afraid I simply...Wasn't as invested in them. A bit disappointing, tbh. I would have preferred true stand-alone stories, I think. Or a disclaimer recommending that the reader look into the previous books in order to understand each story better. So only four stars, one star off due to that.

Frightful beginnings by CR Jane

I have not read any of the books in this series which I am now going to have to rectify. Drawn on from page one I absolutely loved this story, I could easily follow it through without having read any of the others. It was exciting and well written, I love the feelings between Eva and her guys, I love the Halloween style short story and am a little in love, highly recommend this story

Celestia's trick or treat mayhem by Yumoyori Wilson

It is a great Halloween story starring Celestia and all her guys, I love the series and this is a beautifully written story set at Halloween, of course, nothing ever runs smoothly for the gang but this trial is much more fun than what they usually face, I loved this story and highly recommend

Embers of Samhain by CJ Strange

This prequel intrigued me although I must admit I am not entirely sure what was going on. Penny is captured during a mission by someone who says he was saving her. I am rather intrigued and plan to read the series

Hyde with me by Stacy Jones and KB Everly

Oh this prequel to a new series has really whet my appetite, well written with a Jekyll and Hyde feel has excited me, I need to read the next book ASAP!!

Losing Alyanna by Beth Hendrix

I have not read anything else by this author but this has caught my attention well written and exciting it's promising to be a very great read

Samhain Goddess by Skye MacKinnon

It was great to read more about Wyn and her guardians. A fantastic Halloween story with excitement, naked guardians and my darling Crispin. A most enjoyable read and I highly recommend it and the series

Date with a werewolf by KT Strange

This story is awesome, romantic and steamy and now I need to read the rest of the series! A date between Darcy and Eli on Halloween a beautiful little story within what appears to be a great series and I cannot wait to dive in!

The Hunters Moon by Elle Cross

Corbin is a homicide detective and a very fiesty heroine, strong and take charge. There is some bad juju going on and Corbin has no idea what is going on. Exciting throughout it is a very intriguing story and I will be reading more

Tricked by Mila Young

I think this is based on the elves and the shoemaker, Rains life changes on her 18th birthday and she learns a few truths about herself. I really enjoyed this story, sweet and steamy with excitement and magic and I look forward to reading more

Soul Echo by Harper Wylde

Ooh exciting, I cannot wait for the full book to come out next year. Liss is trying to survive the best she can, but a ghost changes her life and helps her discover more about herself. The story drew me in straightaway and I am excited to read more

Four Lilac Spells by Bea Paige

Set before Ferns third book this is Lissa and Nostras story. It is romantic and sweet, showing Lissas love For her stubborn mate. It is a great to be able to read their story and I absolutely loved it

Strange Angel's by May Dawson

Halloween ends up with a mini mission for Ellis and her guys, but as missions go it's not so bad. It's nice to catch up with Ellis Ryker Nim and Jake, a great novella Halloween story

Forbidden Hex by T.J. Spade and Montana Ash

I have read the first book in the series and loved it, it was great to read about Maeve and the guys in a Halloween story, all I can say is poor Bish! With steamy romantic moments, humour and excitement this is a great read, I totally love these guys

Conjured Shadows by Joely Sue Burkhart

I am hoping this is the start of a new series, when the men conjure a demon they get the unexpected and nothing goes to plan. Well written it captured my interest and I need to read more

This is a fabulous anthology and I have enjoyed every story in it, even those relating to series already out you can still read each as a stand-alone and for those not read it's a good try before you buy, a group of very talented writers this is great value for money and I highly recommend this anthology

? BookAddict ✎ La Crimson Femme says

What is this delectable shenanigans? This is a surprise teaser of a new series from the mind of the devious Ms. Burkhart. It is part of a larger anthology and it promises to be another explosively erotic series. Instead of vampires, this time readers are treated to demons and sorcerers.

I've read Ms. Burkhart from the very beginning. Her style is maturing and it shows in her erotic writings. The sexual tension leaping off the pages will whip a reader into a horny frenzy. I love it. The characters are riveting and the worlds she creates are unique yet familiar. Familiar in that it is easily relatable and understandable and with her unique flavor. Fantastic! I can't wait to read more of Crimson Black. Recommended to erotic readers who enjoy poly relationships.

Charlotte says

Some contain sexual content.

This collection of stories has Halloween as a theme in a few. Some of these stories are little pieces of a bigger series. As with any anthology, there will always be the one or two that like me, you just do NOT like. Even though these shortened stories, this book is quite lengthy. The very first story, was my favorite. Even though it says Halloween, anyone who reads PNR, would probably like this at any time of year.

Good Book for Continuations

Frightful Beginnings- I'm a fan of this series and was pleased to read this fun tidbit. I'm glad I read the author's note, though, because of the timeline discrepancy. I'll be interested to see how the epilogue pans out.

Celestia Halloween- The storyline of this was strange and haphazard. It wasn't my cup of tea, but the author has a decent following, so it's really only a personal preference.

Embers of Samhain- Well, that... was a bit of a mindfuck. Like many of the excerpts in this book, this snippet would be utterly useless without some knowledge of the books it belongs to. Luckily, this is a series I'm acquainted with. On that note, this was certainly a hook that makes you want to know more.

Hyde With Me- This had an interesting start and an interesting stop. Almost everyone has heard the story of Jekyll and Hyde, so there are certain elements that needed to stay consistent: the drinking of a formula by the scientist and the carnal existence of what comes after the drink. From Jekyll and Hyde to Jacqueline Hyde (Jacky and Lyn), this retelling has some spicy promise. Looking forward to how the storyline unfolds, as well as the steamy reverse harem scenes with both a com and sub being in the same body.

Losing Alyanna- I like that this story is from a succubus's perspective. I'm definitely down with the demon books. I appreciate that the main love interest is female and it makes me want to read the Demon Exchange series that has the harem Alyanna is part of. I'm also a not eager to find out what happens next.

Samhain Goddess- This was a sweet short story, with an out-of-left-field, but still hot, sexual tangent.

A Date with a Werewolf- I needed this steamy tidbit from one of my favorite series! The best thing about this is that having read the books makes this so much better, but it's not necessary to make the scene make sense.

The Hunter's Moon- What an opening. Gruesome. This was another intro... I was absorbed. The Remnant Gods books get me like that.

Tricked- Mila Young's book are like my junk food. There's always an explanation as to why things progress the way they do in the story, especially when it comes to accepting mates while human. I'll be honest, though; it's the sex scenes that draw me in. I will be looking forward to reading the rest of this retelling, as it's only the beginning, and I really want to know why it was titled Tricked.

Soul Echo- This one should be fun; can't wait until the rest of the book comes out! It opened painfully (the FMC was in pain) and there are so many questions that need answering. Definitely a fan of Harper Wylde.

Lilac Spells- This short story was both tragic and beautiful. While it was obvious that reading the accompanying book(s) would fill things out, this was written in a way that it wasn't necessary. Everything translated into text to make this a true short story and not *just* an excerpt or teaser. That being said, it still makes me want to read more.

Strange Angels- This one had a lot of context missing. I'm not giving a bad review for that, because every book in here is either the start of something or the middle of something. There were some plot holes in this story, but those may have been filled in with the books this story belongs with. The sex was hot, though.

Forbidden Hex- That was hot. Though there were definitely points in this short story that made me wish I had read the book (something I'll remedy soon), it worked more as a hook than anything. I love me some mmf, so the mmmf was appreciated.

Conjured Shadows- I enjoyed the perspective of this excerpt, but what the hell, Joely Sue! I want more! That was barely a taste, even though it was oh so yummy. The "oops" definitely thickens (heh) the plot.

What Goes Bump in the night, is a fantastic collection of 16 Halloween reverse harem stories. It's great way to read some spin offs for some of your favourite characters and be introduced to new authors/characters.

Review for Samhain Goddess by Skye MacKinnon:

With the Veil thin, ghost are able to reenter the the world of the living during Samhain and take on a visible and for some a physical shape. First with a sighting by Dewi, and not longer after Wyn and her Gaurdians see a ghost themselves. Then reports of ghosts are appearing all of the realm.

Samhain Goddess is a short spin-off story, with Wyn and her Guardians. Just because it's a short story, doesn't mean that Wyn won't get to spend some alone time with her men in the bedroom. I also feel like Wyn had a little bit of a closure moment at the end.

I loved this story, and I highly recommend reading this and the full Daughter of Winter series.

Tricia says

I have read the Skye McKinnen book Samhain Goddess. This is a spin off to the Daughter of Winter series. I really enjoyed this book. The characters are fantastic and to see them develop thru the series is lovely. This is the latest book and is set after Winter Goddess. I have not read that particular book but understood the story. If I had not read most of the Daughter of Winter books then this would prompt me to do so.

Disclaimer: reviews are only for Strange Angels, by May Dawson, and Date with a Werewolf, by K.T. Strange.

So I'm a huge fan of both these authors' books, and these books did not disappoint! Strange's one IS ABOUT ELI. Enough said. Dawson's is an extension of the Lilith and Her Harem series and actually is what made me go and read those books. Both are funny, sexy and well-written.

Sierra Clothier says

Delightfully devious, this short story makes the female in me grin. Why? Because the story is essentially about four men who use magic to create an assassin...and get a smart female demon that wraps them all around her fingers. One of the men even recognizes how he's probably being played but his emotions get the best of him. Why do I love this so much? Why does it make me grin wildly with glee? Because Burkhardt essentially wrote a revenge tale dedicated to all the women out there that are tired of being told what to do, how to do it, what to do with their bodies, oh, and my favorite...being called too emotional! This demon has the upper hand from minute one. This was a absolute delight to read, and the fact that there's a vague ending only made it better. I can imagine the many ways she runs the show!

TipseyBookReviews says

This is a really nice anthology, with a mix of stories, some of which are RH.

Celestia Halloween by Yumoyori Wilson (4 ??)

Smoking hot Halloween story. Celestia finds herself and her guys trapped, and must pass 5 trials, each upping the steam level :)

Embers of Samhain by CJ Strange (3.5 ??)

Intriguing but I also felt a little lost. This is a prequel novel, and I am intrigued enough that I will be looking for the series when it is released.

Hyde with Me by Stacy Jones and EB Everly (5 ??)

This is a really interesting take on Jeckyl and Hyde, and a prequel story. It was a fun read, and I will definitely be looking for the series once it is out.

Losing Alyanna by Beth Hendrix (2 ??)

I felt like I was missing out on parts of the story, and didn't feel connected to the characters,

Samhain Goddess by Skye Mackinnon (4 ??)

This is a short story spinoff of the Daughter of Winter series. We get to catch up with Wyn, her guys, Dewi, and a couple other characters as they encounter some ghostly haunting. I really liked Wyn's own ghostly encounter ❤?

Date with a Werewolf by KT Strange (4 ??)

Darcy and her guys from the Phoenixcry series. This is a short and steamy read.

Soul Echo by Harper Wylde (4 ??)

This is the first 5 chapters of Wylde's new book that releases in Feb. 2019. I was hooked, and wanted to read more about Liss, Josiah, Maxon, Falcon, and the rest. February can't come soon enough :)

Four Lilac Spells by Bea Paige (4 ??)

This is Nostra and Lissandra's short story. The story takes place during Fern's Flight when Nostra is magicless and refusing to Entwine with Lissandra - it is emotional and also has some steam too.
