Give Me Something Elizabeth Lee

Here's the deal... I learned a long time ago that sometimes you have to use what you've got to make things happen. What I happen to have is a pretty smile, long legs and the ability to make men believe anything I say. Before you get on your high horse and start judging me, can you honestly say you've never batted your lashes at some guy for a free drink at the bar? That's what I thought.

Keep that in mind as I tell you my story of how I took it one step further. My story of lies, deceit, manipulation and love. Yeah, love. Believe me, it fits. Especially, when you factor in Nick and Tucker – one had my heart and the other one wanted it all for himself. Which one? Well, I can't tell you that. It would defeat the purpose of the story. If I'm going to fill you in about me, Lila Garrison, and my life as a con artist you're going to need to know all the facts, including the ones about the two guys who made me want to give up the life of fancy clothes, expensive jewelry, fast cars and easy money. Because sometimes, one person can give you something that's more valuable than all of that.

If you're still interested, stick around. Just remember, I'm pretty good at convincing people to do what I want, so if by the end of this whole thing you feel worked over, don't say I didn't warn you.

5-On Entertainment-Alone-Worthiness-Stars

In the scheme, are the players being played? What I most liked about this gripping and edge-of-the-seat read is that you're never quite sure – until near the end when it's all revealed. For me, this is what makes a really great reading experience. I fell for it hook, line, and sinker.

Recycled storylines are becoming a regular occurrence. This time around I found something more. "Give Me Something" offered up a unique and refreshing change. Filled with a great mix of cons, twists and turns, sizzle and steam, comical relief, and a triangle of love consisting of two very hot bad boys--both players but on different playing fields and, last but not least, a sassy, beautiful and repentant beguiler. It all worked for me from start to finish.

Elizabeth Lee is a new-to-me author. Her writing mesmerized me, kept me in my chair, and left me smiling ear-to-ear. It can't go unnoticed that there are more than several editing problems. Nothing so severe that it took me out of the story but still yet, they bug me.

There's a hint of excitement in the air with rumors that one of the characters (who must remain unnamed) from "Give Me Something" might be getting a book of their own. That's terrific news!

Meanwhile, I'm off to purchase a copy of "Shattered," another of Lee's books. This is definitely an author on my watch list.

Autumn Review says

After I read Shattered, I was anxious to see what Elizabeth Lee was going to come up with next. Well, I'm happy to say that not only did I love Give Me Something, but I absolutely fell in LOVE with Tucker. I mean...I LURRRVE him a lot.

I usually attach myself to male characters in my books. Not surprising, I know. However, I really like Lila. She left home when she was a teen, because she just didn't agree with her family's lifestyle and ideals. At the time, she didn't feel like they even cared all that much that she left. So, when she hooked up with Nick, she felt like she had someone who cared about her and someone she fell in love with. But, how can you really fall in love with someone, when all they do is lie? Nick teaches Lila how to become a grifter/con artist. Together, they pull off some pretty great cons, but Lila is ready to get out of that life for good. She and Nick settle in at a small university and Lila finally feels like she's living a 'normal' life. However, Nick has a problem. He owes money to some dangerous guys. So, he plans a con and he needs Lila's help. The mark is Tucker. What Lila wasn't expecting was to fall for her mark. And as a result, she ends up resenting Nick and begins to see their relationship in a whole new light.

Tucker Kline is a player and he makes no excuses about it. But, when he meets Lila, he sees something different and pursues her hard. He's cocky, but charming, sweet, and definitely sexy. Lila and Tucker are attracted to each other, but it's more than just a physical thing. Lila sees that Tucker is a genuine guy and nothing at all like Nick has made him out to be. The lines become more and more blurred for Lila as she falls even more for Tucker. Tucker is no fool though.

I know this review seems like a complete recap of the book, but this is a story that has many twists and turns. This is book that needs to be experienced by the reader. Just know this, you will love Tucker. Lila and Tucker together are truly great couple. Not only did they learn to trust and love, but I really felt like Lila had a lot of personal growth. And as much as I wanted to smack Nick around, I think he has a good story to tell and I can't wait to see what happens with him down the road. I would also love to see a story about Brynn!!!! She cracked me up.

Overall, I loved it! Give Me Something had a great combination of romance, steam, and intrigue. Once I started reading it, I didn't stop till I was finished. If you're looking for a great NA to start next, Give Me Something is a great choice for you!

Quotes:

~"We're going out tonight because, whether you want to admit it or not, you know I'm the best thing that's ever gonna happen to you."-Loc 770

~"Holy shit, Lila." Brynn's voice over my shoulder, pulled me back from the lust-filled stare I was giving Tucker as he swaggered out the door. "I just about had an orgasm watching that conversation."-Loc 776

~"Who cares where he lives? You're going to be alone with him for forty eight hours. Alone. No fraternity brothers, jealous girls, or Nick. I'd give it up to him on a pile of dirt."-Loc 1134

~"I'm pretty close to the line when it comes to falling for you, Lila." My heart stilled. "It wouldn't take much for me to trip over it." He turned on his side and his blue eyes begged me to give him an honest shot.-Loc 1292

4 Presh Stars!

I really enjoyed this story...it was different, it was addicting, it was funny, it was sweet.

Give Me Something is the story of con-artist's Lila and Nick. Lila grew up poor and has always believed that money = happiness. She leaves home when she is 16 for a better life and meets Nick. For the next several years they lead a life of crime, swindling numerous men out of cash.

Lila loves Nick. With the loss of her family, he was often times her only friend. After Nick cons their way in to college--Lila tries to change her ways and leave the life of crime behind. But Nick finds himself in trouble and need Lila's help--one last con job! Yeah sure okay....

This is where me meet Tucker...sweet, huggable, kissable, stud muffin, hottie Tucker! Tucker I love you!!! But watch your back Tucker--you're Lila and Nick's next hit! That's right folks...queue the love triangle.

At this point in the story I don't know who I want Lila to end up with...the boy she's "loved" her whole life or Mr. Hottie McTottie! It's quite the conundrum.

Fear not--lies are revealed and truths are discovered making the decision between Tucker and Nick an easy one.

(view spoiler)...this is for you!

The pacing on this story was fantastic. It was full of twists and turns and surprises that kept me glued to my Ipad. And even in the end (view spoiler) managed to redeem himself--especially once the whole story was revealed. A little anyways.

Everything gets wrapped up nice and neat in the epilogue. Even though my eyes did bug out there for a minute when I thought they were going to throw another little twist in there.

Overall this was an enjoyable read--I will note that my copy had quite a few typos, several missing words, etc. However, this did not personally take away from the story for me.

3.5 Stars!**

Meet Lila Garrison...

Trickster, bamboozler, grifter. There were lots of names for what I did, but only one that everyone seemed to know- con artist.

Lila is a college student now, trying to live the straight and narrow. The last five years or so, she has been conning with her best friend Nick, but recently, she has been trying to turn over a new leaf. Nick is in some trouble and needs help, she can't turn him down.

We were somewhere between best friends and a whole lot more.

Nick tells Lila he is in some gambling debt and he has a perfect mark. This mark would be his roommate, Tucker Kline. Tucker is not like any other guy Lila has conned before. They usually go after older guys, who aren't good, with lots of money. Tucker is rich, but from what Lila can tell isn't a bad guy and she's hesitant to do it. When Tucker and Lila meet, Tucker is interested right away.

“When you’re my girl, I’ll never treat you like that.”

“What the hell do you mean when I’m your girl?”?“Exactly what I said.”

Lila has always had feelings for Nick, but they friends, family to one another. Things start to get confusing when she starts having feelings for Tucker, he is falling for her too.

“I’m pretty close to the line when it comes to falling for you, Lila. It wouldn’t take much for me to trip over it.”

The scam gets more complicated than any of them could have predicted, especially Lila. She has a big choice to make...

“I was pretty sure I was in love with Nick, falling for Tucker, and lying to them both.”

Lila, Nick and Tucker... this was one crazy love triangle. Lila was trying to be a good person, she aggravated me at times, but I liked her. I wanted to love Nick, and I did for a part of the book, other times- I just wanted to slap him! At first, Tucker seemed a little cocky and full of himself, but I ended up rooting for him by the end of the book. ??I wanted to love this one, but for some reason, I couldn't get into it. It was an enjoyable read, I liked it- I just didn't love it. It was different, and the ending was really great. There was a twist in the middle of the book I didn't see coming. Overall- a good read for me... just not great.

"I don't need money or expensive things. The only thing I need is you." <3

This was like one of those teens drama series.

Immature. Stupid. Doesn't make any sense. But you still watch it..or read it in this case.

So many twists and turns and I don't know what's up anymore.

That kind of ruined it for me among other stupid things. And all this triangle relationship. Yep, so not my thing.

Nope.

I won't be reading next book in the series.

Caisey Quinn says

"This is what's going to happen: you two are going to get over this One Tree Hill bullshit and figure out a way to get along." -Lila

From that point on, Nick was Lucas and Tucker was Nathan in my head!

I enjoyed this wild ride so much! Lila is a touch chick, a con artist who has been in love with her partner in crime (and I do mean actual crime) for as long as she can remember...until she starts to have feelings for their latest mark.

Ms. Lee keeps you guessing all the way up to the end, but I wholeheartedly agreed with Lila's choice!

The story flowed smoothly and the romantic tension pacing was perfect! I read this in one night. I had to know the ending because I couldn't stop jumping ship from Team Tucker to Team Nick. Lila's struggle to reconcile her past with her future and break old habits was well-developed and entertaining. A best friend's betrayal blindsighted me and I was like "what the mother @#?!" I read a lot, so I am overjoyed when something manages to surprise me.

Loved it! Great book with great characters! Picking up Jesse and Alyssa's story, Shattered ,next! (Probably should've read that one first) ;)

Since I've been in a perpetual con artist high lately, I decided to make a short review of this New Adult book.

3.5 stars

Trickster, bamboozler, grifter. There were lots of names for what I did, but only one that everyone seemed to know -- con artist. That was me and I was good at it.

That was Lila talking, btw. She's currently a sophomore at a private college which she didn't pay for. And guess how that happened?

- a. She slept with an admin
- b. She blackmailed the dean

Ding, ding ding.

Time's up guys.

Sorry to disappoint, but slut isn't Lila's middle name. It would be a huge disappointment on my part if she turned out to be one. I don't want my female MCs to be sleeping around in exchange for something that one can actually work hard for.

So of course, she just blackmailed the dean to get scholarship. Who knew compromising photos could turn handy one day?

Since she ran away from home 5 years ago (view spoiler), she'd been in love with her con-partner-slash-pimp, Nick.

Nick owes someone something, and they had to do one last con because of it. And their mark? None other than the golden boy from Sigma fraternity house -- the very rich and gorgeous baseball player, Tucker Kline.

What happened next?

Just a really sexy, albeit frustrating love triangle; and more conning in between.

Supposedly deserving of solid 4 stars right?

Ehhh.

Okay, I was so hooked and then, I wasn't anymore. Although there were still a few unanswered questions, I thought the story was pretty much resolved at 76%. Which means IMO, it just needed a few pages to wrap up, and certainly not another 1/4 of the book since the rest of the time was mostly spent revisiting the country charm of Tucker's hometown. It gets old you know.

Just when I was about to skim the book for good, things spiced up a bit at the last two chapters.

Well, actually let's just say I was holding my breath until the very end. And my goodness Ms. Elizabeth Lee, my heart almost dropped!

I'm thanking the heavens for that kickass epilogue!

"People who say that money can't buy happiness, had obviously never had it"

Lila and Nick have been best friends forever...

Lila...

Nick..

They were somewhere between best friends and a whole lot more..

Well atleast to Laila is was always a whole lot more...

Lila is in love with him forever.

Nick is the type of guy that will get Lila to do anything for him..

Lila and Nick are Tricksters, bamboozler or grifter.. Aka con artists.

I learned a long time ago that sometimes you have to use what you've got to make things happen.
What I happen to have is a pretty smile, long legs and the ability to make men believe anything I say."

They begin college and Lila wants to live a changed lifestyle.. Not to be a con anymore..

That's when Nick begs her for one last job to do because he owes some people money for gambling.
With false promises of them finally being together he manipulates Lila into the job.

Tucker...

The target. Rich boy who inherits a fortune when his father dies. All she needs to do is make him love her then scam him for money..

Lila and Tucker get close and the nice part of their relationship is that they get to know each other. Hanging out, making out..

Lila starts having feelings for Tucker..especially after he takes her home and she meets his friends and his so sweet to her.

I LOVED ALL THE CHEEEESY pick up lines between Lila and Tucker. Sooo cute!!

She starts to question her feelings for Nick.

She has this tug of war with herself and her heart .

Nick uses the feels she has for him to manipulate her over and over.

Offcourse when playing with fire, someone is going to get burnt. The shit will always hit the fan and the truth will be revealed.

Lila falls for Tucker badly! And she confesses everything!

What will happen??

I was actually shocked that he forgave her so quickly but he really did love her!

The truth will set you free... And Lila learnt this in every aspect.

(view spoiler)

A realisation finally dawns on her that his been using her all this time.

(view spoiler)

What an idiot! He used Lila and eventually lost her to Tucker.

I hated Nick but he did redeem himself at the end so I'm kind of on the fence with my feelings for him. He just has a twisted way of showing Love and because of that he is the one who lost at his own game.

What a sweet HEA for all!

This was such an entertaining book, I was hooked! I would recommend to anyone :)

Elizabeth Lee, after u blew me away with Shattered I knew this was going to be good. I forsee myself being a fan of your writing for a very long time...
