Mirror-Mirror Dave Lindsay

When a carpenter in 2008 purchases a antique mirror at auction, he learns that the peculiar facade was designed to conceal a mystical time-travel portal. The extraordinary anomaly enables him to travel seven years into the past, but only as an invisible spirit.

To capitalize on the new found capability, Vinni contacts himself in 2001 and shares information from the future to build a phenomenal instantaneous empire, and to experience the joy of falling in love with the same woman twice.

But when a nuclear war takes place in 2001, Vinni loses the love of his life and becomes the last man alive on a desolate planet. His younger counterpart is forced to find a way to avert the catastrophe and save mankind from nuclear annihilation.

What a ride! I was happy to receive a signed copy from DL Publishing via the Goodreads contest. I was a bit skeptical at first, but I soon found that Vinnie, the main character, soon became V48, V41, V34.

Mmmmm....where is this going? Dave Lindsay's imagination went far beyond "the final frontier." His descriptions seemed to place me into the scenes right along with the characters. His book is really difficult to review because I don't want to give away any of the action to other readers. I was so surprised at one chapter that I literally blurred out, "Whoa!" The ending was a big surprise, too. The old TV commercial, "Try it, you'll like it, Mikie," applies here. However, you will "love it!"
