Death Devours J.C. Diem

With the threat of the First now behind her, Natalie Pierce has little time to celebrate before yet another problem arises. By killing the first vampire ever made, she inadvertently set his ancient enemies free. Ten withered, starving creatures have now been unleashed from forty thousand years of forced entombment.

Only Natalie and her vampire kin have the strength and speed to eradicate the inundation of fledgling undead that are about to rise. The last thing Nat ever wanted to do was rule but destiny cannot be denied. In her role as Mortis, she must bring her kin together or the entire human population will be destroyed. Somehow, she must find a way for the Japanese and European vampire nations to put aside their ancient enmity and work together for a common cause.

This was amazing

This is the fourth book in the mortis Vampire series. It was action packed from beginning to end. I am eager to see where the story goes from here.

Sasha says

Natalie (ladybug) is a tough and unbreakable mortis. lol. i meant she can break but she gets back together. she was with her friends and family during the battle with the second. Nickolas look and smelled like a traitor since i first read about him. om tot he next book. i can't get enough.

Minuska says

it's getting a little boring.. there should be maximum number of times your main character can get maimed, cut to pieces, speared to heart or head... still entertaining read, but it is the same again and again..

Teshai says

haha, so true, why are all aliens intent on world domination, I just know siding with this Commander is going to get her ass in trouble though.

Krystle says

I'm hooked
