More battles here, and more lieutenants being defeated. Even Yamimoto, the Commander, has to join the fight. We're getting closer to the end. And the end of the volume finally redirects us to Ichigo's fight, so the next book is going to be fantastic.

Pujiyanto stiffy says

rada boring

Elias Alexander says

The ending changed the rating.
I almost gave it a 3 stars, but Ichigo showed up at the last two chapters.

Nidah (SleepDreamWrite) says

Good volume.

Continuing the battle for Karakura town, we get the opportunity to see Soi Fon in combat against someone other than Yoriuchi and we finally get some opposition with at least a twist, if not actual personality. The highlights remain Captains Ukitake and Kyoraku (both prominently features on the back cover) and oddly enough, the main cover would be spoilery if it was at all decipherable whatsoever.

The final chapter finally returns us to Ichigo (and crew) and a new question arises as he has absolutely zero unspoken and very few spoken thoughts in his fight. Is this intended to represent a new zen-like state? Does Tite Kubo have the confidence in his art to express Ichigo's emotions? Or has he merely run out of things for Ichigo to think/say?

Hana Eka says

Tidak suka Hinamori sedari awal.

Ukitake taichou gentlemen sekali. Suka :)))

Primera Espada kalau sudah serius berkurang juga aura oyaji-nya. xD9

Amanda Scaramella says

Awesome fight scenes!!

... and ripped a hole in Rangiku! AWE-some!!

With Rangiku down, Momo attempts to save her

The layout of this volume was difficult to follow. There are so many battles going on at this point, that it's getting confusing. In this, we have a page or two devoted to this battle, then another few pages devoted to another battle, and then maybe a page for someone else, etc...I wish that this was broken into 3 volumes with more detail in each battle, instead of highlights from so many.

We begin with our favorite obese Soul Reaper defeating the other obese Arrancar. He believes his captain is in trouble and steps in to help. However, she had everything under control and reprimands Omaeda. First battle down.

Next battle is the bitchy cat-fight between Matsumoto, Apache, Mila Rose, Sun-Sun and a surprise appearance from Hinamori. When Hinamori appears, Aizen recognizes her from his fire cell, but quickly dismisses her from his mind (will he regret this?). Hinamori still refers to Aizen as captain, which could be trouble later. The three bitchy Arrancars tear their left arms off and create a monstrous Hollow called Ayon. This thing is big! Matsumoto is nearly torn in half and Hinamori is injured pretty bad too. Kira and Hisagi come and Hisagi begins to fight Ayon and Kira tries to heal the girls. However, Ayon nearly kills everyone and General Yamamoto shows up and kicks ass...serious ass too!

Shunsui and Stark nearly talk themselves to my death...so boring! But, we find out that Stark is a number 1 Espada so the battle coming up will be epic. Ukitake also talks a lot, but ends up having to fight a little girl- I laughed!

And then we get to the part I've been waiting for- the battle between Ichigo and Ulquiorra. We only got 13 pages and not nearly enough! I need more immediately. We also get a quick (super quick to the point I had no idea what was going on) glimpse of what Chad, Rukia and Renji are up to.

Too much going on in this volume. I realize that the climax is almost upon us, but I want to relish these battles a little bit more. We only had a few squares of Tôshirô battling a nearly naked chic with massive boobs. Who doesn't want to see more of that?? Haha

TOO MUCH SPANISH!!!

I'm sorry people who do know Spanish as either a foreign language, or their normal language, (but I don't understand how you would be able to understand what I'm typing right now...), but I have not even the slightest bit of knowledge of Spanish with exception of beginner stuff like "Hola", "Como estas?", "Como te llamas?" Etc. etc. But the stuff involved in these recent volumes have been unidentifiable to an English speaker like me. Don't get me wrong, I love foreign languages, but I haven't gotten around to learning Spanish just yet.

I'm glad that this volume seemed better than the last one, because more action occurred with the Captains being involved.

The two slackers, (Shunsui, and no. 1 Espada Stark) actually begin to fight, but what I found funny was that they were complimenting each other on their abilities.

Ukitake doesn't want to fight the little girl, and she is trying to force him into battle.

Sun-Sun, Mila Rose, and Apache create a monster they called Ayon, but after Hinamori, (AKA Momo) appears and gets beaten up along with Rangiku, their friends start to get involved to help them out, leading to the help of the Captain General Yamamoto.

The Espada Captain Hitsugaya is fighting reveals that they are the third Espada, (which made me realize that Aizen did replace Nel).

At the end we get a quick look at the battles going on in Hueco Mundo, and how Ichigo and Ulquiorra's battle is going.

I know that this is heating up quickly, so I can't wait to keep reading!!

Day 3 of the November Bleach Re-Read. Btw this is probably the last day as I can't spend any more money at the moment haha. I've went over a bit.

Anyway most of the volume contains the fights taking place in the Fake Karakura town. Yamamoto enters the battle and quickly owns mofos.

I really liked seeing Hinamori return to battle. I've always been fond of Momo for some reason. A large majority of the fandom hates her, but I find her to be cute and while I can't exactly empathize with her, it's interesting to watch her story unfold. And Aizen knows she's there just like Gin knows Kira is fighting. Those two man. Not only doing I ship the two of them together, I find myself shipping Gin/Kira, Aizen/Hinamori, and Kira/Hinamori. I don't have an excuse, I'm just a shipping whore :P

Anyway the end of the volume ends with the return of the Ulquiorra/Ichigo fight. I admit I'm probably more interested in that particular fight, but I like watching the other continuing fights as well.

Pretty good volume all in all. Still no color pages though.

upon reflection: I found the espada much more interesting than xcution(?) and I still do tbh

Bbabri says

Most már tényleg beindultak a harcok, egyik jobb, mint a másik. Soi Fong nem okozott csalódást, de még hátra van...

Hinamori felbukkanása kicsit bosszant, mivel ki nem állhatom.

Halibel Fraccio-ja sem érdekel különösebben, örülök, hogy véget ért most a szerepük. Viszont Halibel érdekel. Végre egy n?i Espada, aki_feln?tt_ és er?s is!

Hisagi és Kira is bekapcsolódott – ismét – aminek viszont örülök, mert nagyon szeretem mindkettejüket.

Ami még mosolygásra késztetett, az Stark és Kyoraku társalgása. Annyira egyforma mentalitásúak. Na és Ukitake? Áldott jó lelk? egy pasas.

Ami kicsit kizökkentett, hogy az utolsó fejezetben visszatértünk Hueco Mundo-ba Ichigo és Ulquiorra harcához. Komolyan, imádom azt a harcot, de jobb lett volna még egy kicsit a másik helyszínen maradni.

Artemis says

Lol, while all the other Espadas are bloodthirsty "people", Espada 1's the one that kept on saying "Can we just pretend we're fighting? I'm not really into these stuff..."

AYON!!!! How dare you try to kill all the fuktaichous that are my fav??? But then Yamma-gi showed up and BAM! Haha.

I can't wait for Ichigo, Rukia, Byakuya and all the others to get out of Hueco Mundo (After killing all the evil Arrancars that need to be killed, of course...) and then EVERYONE join up to fight. (EVERYONE: includes Shinigami taichous, fuktaichous, Vizards, Urahara Shop people, Shihoine Yoruichi, Nel-chan's trio of Arrancar, and of course, Kuchiki Rukia and Kurosaki Ichigo's group of people)

Brenda says

Head Captain Yamamoto was badass the way he just defeated Ayon, Apache, Mila Rose, and Sun Sun. The fight between Shunsui/Stark and Ichigo/Ulquiorra is gonna be great. Hinamori is another character that I am not very fond of. Even after everything Size has done deep down she still thinks that he can be saved and I don't like that she is putting Captain Hitsugaya in a horrible position.
