Dazzle, Volume 05 Minari Endoh

The adventures of Alzeid, Rahzel and Baroqueheat continue to get stranger and stranger as they find themselves in the middle of an albino forest, a place where there's more than sunlight and water on the plant's menu. Later, a day at the beach turns into a rescue operation when they stop a young man from killing himself. He invites them to join him on his journey to a mysterious townâ€”a town with many dark, dangerous secrets...

Christina says

Our trio had just previously found themselves in a secluded town in a strange albino forest. There, they met a young albino girl who had never seen the blue sky even once in her life. Then, Alzeid, Baroqueheat, and Rahzel travel to another town on their way to find Alzeid's father's murderer, who we find out was actually a friend of his and his father's, and may have even been closely related to Baroqueheat... And as they save a young man from nearly killing himself, they find out the place they wish to go to find their answers is actually overrun with what villagers can only describe as vicious monsters...

This was a really good volume. And hey, we finally learned red-haired-dude's name! Kiara! How do I pronounce that as a guy's name...? And I would have never guessed it was Baroqueheat's big brother!! OMG!! So... That means in some way, Baroqueheat was tied to Rahzel from the very beginning. And who is this small Alzeid? For some reason, I get the feeling he is Rahzel and Alzeid's son from the future (like Sailor Moon, LOL)... But really, I don't like all the trouble that little brat has been causing. Who the hell does he think he is?! Oh, but it looks like Alzeid is falling for Rahzel~. But... He's 24 and she is 14, right? So... They're ten years apart. He'll be 28 when she is of legal age. O_O ...He's cute, but ew! Oh well. Love is blind, huh? Especially Alzeid... (Really mean albino jokenotjoke).

This Natsume woman... I feel like she is definitely Alzeid's father's killer. But why does she seem to be not only Baroqueheat's lover, but also perhaps his sister? I mean... wha--? Or perhaps it was only a love that could have never been, but even so, the feeling was still there. Aww... And Natsume was murdered too, huh? Hmm. It seems she had her fingers in a lot of stuff. Just like Rahzel. AAAHHH, WHAT IF RAHZEL IS HER REINCARNATION, SOMEHOW? MAYBE. I DUNNO. They don't really seem that alike, but this series has a lot of parallels.

Also... My new favorite character is Rayborn!! Please, please, please, PLEASE don't kill him like pretty much every other character!! PLEASE DON'T KILL MY FAVORITE CHARACTER AGAIN, WHAAAAA-!!

Raven Black says

Meeting Rayburn reopened old wounds again. I am taking a break from continuing this series. Loved this book. Noticing things I missed the first time I read this series. Kiara And browuehest's entire family seem really suspicious.
