Shira Tressie Lockwood

Running from her abusive ex, Shira goes to her old school friend, Whisper, for help. Instead of Whisper, she meets Max, a sexy if gruff man she's immediately attracted to. Max seems just as dominate as her ex, but there's a gentleness to him too that draws Shira closer. When Max offers Shira a job, she jumps on it because she feels safe for the first time in a long time. Between Max and the leopard that saves her from her ex, Shira no longer has to live in fear. She's even falling for Max. There is only one problem. She can't compete with the beautiful blonde that still owns Max's heart.

I enjoyed this book, Tressie is one of my favourite authors. Max a leopard shifter protects and falls in love with Shira, a human female escaping an abusive relationship.

Plainweird says

Pure smut with a supernatural backstory... Characters are shallow, not relatable.

I liked this book a bit more than the last. There is something about the damsel in distress with her hero savior that gets to me. Shira and Max, although they had an unconventional relationship it worked. I loved the way Max protected Shira leopard form. He was very charming in his own little way. Overall I enjoyed it...wished it was longer though.

Absolutely loved Max & Shira's story.

It was easy to fall in love with a brooding Max and feel a bit sorry for him at times. I'm glad that at the end of it Shira felt strong enough to stand up for herself. It was a very good short read equally deserving of 5 stars and more.
