Mesa Library says

This picture book has very sweet illustrations very reminiscent of Runaway Bunny, showing an adult bunny doing typical bunny things with their baby. There is unique gold paint speckled into the background on some pages, which adds a magical element to the illustrations. The book also features pleasant nature scenes showing: yellow and white daisies against green hues of grass, yellow-gold wheat fields, blue skies, white fluffy clouds, and a rainstorm paired with the words, "Love is when we huddle close and shelter from a shower." The last page is truly heart-warming, showing the adult and baby bunny cuddling close with the words, "I love you so, and when I try to count the reasons why . . . I find there are more reasons . . . Than there are stars up in the sky." The final illustration features the two bunnies cuddling inside a burrow with a gold moon against a navy blue sky with gold and white stars. For toddlers and preschoolers, 14 months – 5 years old.

Jocelin says

A super sweet book about the love of a parent and a child.

Joy Lane says

A bit of Greeting Card vibe, but nice.

Maria Shuffit says

Even though I have always loved children's books, I have somehow never managed to read Emma Dodd until very recently. Only two titles in, and I am in love!

This sweet book lyrically shows a parent expressing their love for their child. The illustrations are beautiful and shiny. I didn't fall as hard for this book as I did for Together, her other title that I've read, but this one is still excellent!

Julie says

Beautiful colors, memorable rhymes, and sentimental (but not mawkish) illustrations depicting the unconditional love of a mother rabbit for her baby bunny. Sweet, tender, and appropriate not just for the indicated 2-5 year old audience, but for picture book fans of any age.

I love the foil illustrations in this book. I'm adding it to my list of books to give as a gift for a new baby!

Jillian says

The same, for all intents and purposes, as every other Emma Dodd book. I find I like this one a little more than most of the others, but that could be because I'm currently in nesting mode.

KC says

I LOVED this book Love by Emma Dodd. She gets me on every level as a parent and having 2 children living 3,000 miles away from me, her stories help fill the gap of missing them. Thank you from the bottom of my heart.

Emily says

The second review for an Love You Series book. Emma Dodd is so adept at putting my thoughts and feelings onto a page. Again, wish it was bigger so I could use it for my large crowds story times.

I'm not crying on the public desk, YOU'RE crying on the public desk!

Please excuse me while I buy a copy of this for everyone I know who is having a baby this year.

Dawn Rutherford says

This is lovely and well designed, but I can't help but feel there is a tragic story underneath as to why these two rabbits have only each other.

Love (Emma Dodd's Love You Books) - Emma Dodd I'll let my review for Dodd's Together stand for this one also. But in case I slighted the art before, let me add the art is adorable.

I really dug this. A book all about love, a topic that's been covered many times before in picture books but there's something about it that makes you go "awww." There is gold gilding included in the illustrations which are really beautiful.

I love you so and when I try to count the reason why...
.. I find there are more reasons...
...than there are stars in the sky.

Ilustrasinya suka bangeet.
padang bunga kala senja dan ditutup dengan langit bertabur bintang.
