Katy Beth McKee says

I loved seeing these guys grow together. They seem to be able to strengthen each other. Like the realistic view of the family. Glad to see it really coming together for them.

Justin says

"It's your job to be you, and if that's sad or positive or out of this world certifiable, then that's you. And it's my job to love you just as you are."

Fantastic sequel to Man-to-Man Coverage!

Major English (Laura) says

Unbelievably good. Read this and the whole man-to-man series and you will not be disappointed. I could literally not put this story down! Loved the story! Loved the characters! Loved the love!

Sandi ♥'s way too many M/M books says

So good loved it! I love Brad!

Ann says

D'awwww. That was great too.

Brad and Cam had a lot of ground to cover in this one, and the pacing and detail were done well again. I'm so happy these two have their family and their HEA.

I didn't mention before, but I love that there is actual football in these stories too. Not a ton, but enough to feel real and remind me that I'm reading a sports story (which I love).

Another win, off to the final

 3.75 Stars *****

I liked all the complicated emotional processing and character developments that was going on in this one, but appreciated that it was balanced with some sweet moments. Could it have used a at least one truly sexy time? Yes, yes it could have. But then again, I'm a horn dog. ;)

Barb ~rede-2-read~ says

Oh, I loved this story even more than the first one. This revisits Cam and Brad three years after the original LIAW event story. I'm so glad the author wrote this sequel. These guys are great together and this story covers the period where they finally decide to come out as a couple and they even end up adopting Lock to become a family. So sweet!

David says

Just as good as the first. Almost shed a little tear for Lock and how that turned out.

Tailtiu says

4,5* upgrade because I love these guys and 3 free stories deserve it.

Sheri says

Awwww! This was super sweet.

Lovely addition to the first.

So glad they found their happily ever after!

Gavin Stephenson-Jackman says

It's nice to see that things worked out between Cam and Brad.

Shelby says

Nice and simple continuation of the previous series. I liked getting to see these two settling down into a real relationship together and fighting through to make the big step to be out and proud in professional sports. This one gets to stay at the 4 stars as there was nothing that niggled at my football brain too badly. ;)

Lori says

These books were perfect shorts for an Autumn evening. I loved the characters of Cam & Brad. I loved that they started as rivals, but as they got to know each other the romance blossomed between them. I love it when a romance starts as friendship, it gives something extra to the relationship in my opinion.

As well as writing two fabulous main characters and a great supporting cast, I loved the detail Nico Jaye writes into her stories with regards to the American football game. I know nothing about the sport but, without boring me, she manages to make it real for me.

I enjoyed the first story so much, I had to read the follow up before I went to sleep! Really lovely short stories for those who love, love.

Lost in a Book says

Definitely a syrupy sweet read. As I mentioned after the first one, I like at least a little angst in my reads. However, this is the perfect little read when you just want a blanket of comfort.
