Mohammad Islam says

When i was reading James Joyce "A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man"; i meet the life and it's consciousness. How much conscious he was, he tries to free him from wrongdoers barrier, but (from my point of view) he failed to find out the truth and real freedom or failed to art his path. Their i imagine a life.... and that time i bought the book "????". Here i find my answer. How to portrait oneself perfectly. How to encourage one's inner. How much dedicative to reach the milestone.

If we discuss it's literary quality, i think it's a masterpiece of Bengali literature . Because i find child consciousness, family consciousness, image, metaphor and so others use of literary terms. Most important point is the paerfect use of *epiphany (sudden or striking realization). In this point James Joyce tumbled me but Sihinta Sharifa astound me.

Really the writing is marvellous and it inspired me.

This book retells the story of two former-Christian sisters finding their path back to Islam. Written in the style of autobiographies, the story goes through how the sisters perceived Islam in their childhood, how they came to know about the true Islam, and the challenges they faced on their path to God. This is a good read for everyone.
