“Her knees were weak and if not for that marble pillar beside her shoulder she would faint and fall not far from the maze at the end of the main aisle of the church.”

Blazing Night enters society in Vancouver. The father dies, beginning the endless search for the family. The story moves a few centuries into the future in which gaming is what everybody is excited about. People, robots, clones, dragons and monsters are playing.

The novel was edited by Robert H. Byers, born February 1931 died March 2018, Bob edited the novel Blazing Night and the first chapter of Blue Earth. According to him, lots of corrections were needed on every page. He not only marked these, but read the text loud and made sure it sounded great. For him J. M. K. Walkow is "the Canadian Conrad". Joseph Conrad, born Józef Teodor Konrad Korzeniowski, was a Polish-British writer regarded as one of the greatest novelists to write in the English language.

According to a local paper in January of 2013, Blazing Night is a self-described naturalistic fantasy tale, five years in the making, as "part fantasy, part science fiction and there's some real science in there, too." J. M. K. Walkow began the novel when he was unemployed in 2004, and wrote it in about four months. "I was looking for work while my sons were going to French immersion school. We spent hours in the public library, and I was reading some books and helping them with their French and one day I just started writing," he said. Spiritual, science fiction and reality all rolled into one, no surprise is making it's way around the world! commented a fan.

The author is funding independent innovation in artificial intelligence, cyber security, robo-advisor, oncology, mathematics, fine art, literature and photography. Jmk Walkow is a pen name for Jacek Walkowicz.

"The character development established brilliantly."

"It's truly amazing!"

"I love the way you keep referring to ..."

"This book is spiritual as well as science fiction and reality all rolled into one. I'm not surprised it is making it's way around the world!?"

"...I really felt connected in a way with some of the characters, especially Adelaide. She is basically a hypocrite that one day would kill on Blue Earth, and the next attend church. Versus your typical, know-it-all cool character, Adelaide is more self centered, egoistic, but has a very strong personality at the same time; she makes for an excellent commander. While I didn't enjoy Adelaide as a character as much as the others, I certainly thought she was one of the more intriguing ones. The story as a whole, although lacking in some areas, makes for a good read. The whole going into another world created by some greater being, is certainly not something newly invented, but it is very well written and described throughout the entire book in such a way that kept me enthralled until the very end. The main character, Blazing Night, amazed me, at times she was pure evil, an omnipotent devil that would try to eradicate Bruce and his company. While at others, she would destroy evil governors, like the time on planet Jupiter, and would appear to be on the same side as Bruce, but she was really only ever working for herself, to find her lost family. I would certainly recommend this book.."

"Greater than the pleasure of reading is the thrill of re-reading."
