There are some Matthews left in the world today even though they are hard to find. I enjoyed this novella about faith, trust and vulnerability. Faith and Matthew were brought together because of rumors but will have the last laugh!

Such a great quick story!!! God I love these!!

Elementary School Teacher lusts surgeon in a charming proposition for one night of unforgettable sex. These two have more chemistry then they are willing to admit, but a HEA for sure!!

Liza says

Fun, fast-paced super sexy read. Great chemistry between Faith and Matthew!

Tabatha says

Okay, so this was much better than I was anticipating and it turned out to be a cute steamy story. Faith wants one night with hunky pediatric surgeon Matthew for Christmas, but I love that he is thinking along the lines of something more permanent. It ended in a bit of a cliché way, but it was still a cute read.

Tina says

I give this holiday novella 4.5 stars.

What I Liked: I loved the writing as well as the story which had me hooked from the start. I also really liked the characters, the excellent pacing, and the perfect amount (for me) of descriptiveness! I was especially happy with how up front and genuine/tender Matthew was with Faith. My heart melted! The smexiness was pretty hot too!

What I Didn't Like: The middle 50% started to get a tad stale and predictable. Plus Faith's internal dialog in regards to her trust issues started to become broken-record-esque. I also felt the ending was unsatisfying (view spoiler), and the reason behind the lower rating.

Overall Impression: Ultimately, I felt this was a very sexy, fun, and enjoyable read. It's by far the best "holiday" romance I've read. Certainly a novella I plan to keep/re-read and recommend often.

Glynda Roy says

Very good short story. I love these kind at Christmas.

Debbie says

I really enjoyed this story but it was way too short for me. The hero invited the heroine to spend Christmas with him and his parents, his siblings and their children. I was hoping to read about that. But, the story ended without that.

The Story

All Faith Roberts wants for Christmas is one sexy night with Matthew Carlton, the hot, gorgeous pediatric surgeon posing as Santa for a visit to the children's ward where she volunteers.

Matthew has been interested in Faith for months and is more than willing to fulfill her naughty wishes, and more.

She might have only asked for one night, but Matthew is determined to show her that he's the kind of gift that keeps on giving.

The Romance

Clichéd, rushed, undeveloped.

Characters

Faith Roberts, an elementary school teacher with trust issues and nice boobs.

Matthew Carlton, pediatric surgeon with a playboy's reputation but actually a strong desire for commitment. And a rocking hot body, of course.

Genre

Syrupy sweet contemporary erotic romance.

Erotica

Not bad.

Ending

Not so surprisingly it's (view spoiler)

Recommended?

It depends on how much you are into hot, misunderstood surgeons, hot nights in luxury hotels, jewelry, petals in the bath, champagne and sweet words.

Faith was a school teacher but also volunteered in the children's ward. Matthew was a pediatric surgeon that had quite a reputation. This year he was playing Santa. When Faith found herself seated on santa's lap asking what she wanted for Christmas she found herself whispering that 'all I want was a night with him. Would he grant her wish? Would she go through with it or back out?

Loved the premise of Seducing Santa, by Janelle Denison, but the story was a miss for me. Turned off of relationships by her last boyfriend, Faith Roberts decides to proposition pediatric surgeon Matthew Carlton for one night as a Christmas gift to herself. He's been after her for months and jumps at the chance to be with her hoping to prove a relationship with him is worth the risk.

Who doesn't love the idea of falling for a pediatric surgeon? Especially one who dresses up as Santa for the hospital's children's Christmas party! That's about where my like of this book ended. The author used too many adjectives for my liking. The language in general was an issue for me. Denison's grammar was fine but the word choices got me, words that either turned me off or seemed unsuited, unflattering, personally incompatible or generally incongruous for the situation. I stress that these were things for me, not necessarily for everyone. As a consequence though, I didn't really enjoy the sex. There was no current conflict between Faith and Matthew. The barriers were based on Faith's past and rumours about Matthew. Because of this I found the story a little flat. I never felt much of a spark between them, at least not one I got excited about. The whole story ended up a little clichéd and overly perfect by the end. It just wasn't for me.

Nice little short story HEA romance. Nothing that really stood out to make it a great read.

The usual, woman lusting after handsome doctor who's playing Santa. Tells Santa that she want's one night of passion with him, of which he agrees to. Of course he doesn't want it to only be one night, so he must convince her otherwise so they can have a Merry Christmas.
